During the month tree plantation activities are done by teams in the program area. In which approximately 11645 saplings were distributed and planted in 6 villages in the Gondal work area. The initiative aims to restore and enhance the local ecosystem. The newly planted trees will help stabilize the soil and reduce erosion. Over time, the improved greenery will support increased biodiversity.

Agricultural training was completed in 4 villages of Gondal area with 116 farmers to discuss best practices for Kharif crops such as groundnut, cotton, pigeon pea and others. Participants learned about common diseases and pests affecting these crops, including how to recognize and manage infestations. The training also highlighted declining soil fertility and the rising inefficiencies and costs associated with chemical fertilizers, underscoring the need for more sustainable nutrient management. Additionally, farmers were introduced to intercropping techniques, which can improve soil structure and fertility, suppress pests and diseases through biodiversity, and increase overall yields.

We completed two block level training programs on digital and financial literacy in Gondal block. 183 women participated in said program from Ghoghavadar, Hadamtala (Gondal), Dolatpar & Soliya villages.

This month, we initiated the promotion of Good Agricultural Practices among 849 farmers, covering 288.176 hectares with Solar radar light trap, Drone spraying (with collaboration of Agri.Department (extension) & SHG group), Pigeon pea and planting 7059 mango saplings with a total cost sharing of Rs. 699480.
